

The Past, Present and Future of American Constitutional Law

A Conversation with Judge David J. Barron

Judge David J. Barron is the Chief Judge of the United States Court of Appeals for the First Circuit. He was Acting Assistant Attorney General for the Office of the Legal Counsel from 2009 to 2010 and S. William Green Professor of Public Law at Harvard Law School from 2009 to 2014 before being appointed as Judge to the First Circuit in 2014. He continues to teach at Harvard Law School as the Louis D. Brandeis Visiting Professor of Law.

WEDNESDAY, 20 November 2024, 10:15-11:45 (CET),

Henry-Ford-Bau, Audimax, Garystr. 35, 14195 Berlin

The event takes place as part of the lecture “Einführung in das Öffentliche Recht“, organized by Univ.-Prof. Dr. Helmut Aust